

263 Acres of Land For Sale.

I have 263 acres of good Sumner County land for sale. I am rural mail carrier from Lafayette, Tenn. When I bought this farm I thought I would quit my route and move to it, but I have decided that I am not physically able and have not sufficient help to handle the farm as it should be, hence I offer it for sale.

The farm is situated about eight and a half miles West of Gallatin, near the Red River Pike, on Station Camp Creek. About one hundred acres of the farm is in and ready for cultivation, all fine land. Thirty acres in fine blue grass. Nice lot of timber, with plenty for building and repair work and fire-wood to last a life time, if left and not cleared away. Two dwellings, 3 barns, fine spring near the dwelling, good the year round, with other running water on the place for stock. This is a good farm for grain and stock raising, and grows fine burley tobacco.

Go look at this farm and let your eyes be the judge. This farm can be bought for $60 per acre. If this strikes you ge busy. Correspond with

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Ford cars have become such a world utility that it would almost seem as if every family ought to have its Ford car. Runabouts, Touring Car, Coupe, Sedan, (the two latter have enclosed bodies), and the Truck Chasses, have really become a part and parcel of human life. You want one because its service will be profitable for you. We solicit your order at once because, while production is limited, it will be first come, first supplied.

Keep Well

Do not allow the poisons of undigested food to accumulate in your bowels, where they are absorbed into your system. Indigestion, constipation, headache, bad blood, and numerous other troubles are bound to follow. Keep your system clean, as thousands of others do, by taking an occasional dose of the old, reliable, vegetable, family liver medicine.

Thedford's

Black-Draught

Mrs. W. F. Pickle, of Rising Fawn, Ga., writes: "We have used Thedford's Black-Draught as a family medicine. My mother-in-law could not take calomel as it seemed too strong for her, so she used Black-Draught as a mild laxative and liver regulator. We use it in the family and believe it is the best medicine for the liver made." Try it. Insist on the genuine—Thedford's. 25c a package. E-75

do more than that crowd of boys. They were all jolly good fellows and enjoyed our trip to camp fine. After arriving at Camp Pike we were separated to all parts of camp. I was with some of the boys for a while, and some of I have never seen since we got off the train, but I hope they are alive.

The first work I did after arriving at camp, was to help clean a barn. This made me think of the days on the farm, but there was a man walking around with a rifle, and I soon realized I was not on the farm, but in the army.

Our stay at Camp Pike was short. One morning we were lined up and marched to the train, and we were off to camp Merritt, N. J., where we arrived in due time. While there I worked three nights and days assisting in getting our company supplied with overseas clothing. One night about two o'clock we were called out for the trip to Hoboken, N. J. Everything was as still as death, and no one was speaking above a whisper, as we quietly slipped out of camp on our way to the boat that was to carry us down the great Hudson river. I was one of the boys that fell out that night, and was loaded in a truck and hauled for some distance. There was so many boys along the way, that I finely got out and walked to give some other boy a place to ride. We staid in New York that day and night, and early the next morning the good ship Koros steamed slowly out of the harbor with us aboard. I stood on the deck and watched the dear old U. S. A. slowly fade away in the distance.

For fourteen days our good ship plowed her way through the waters of the mighty Atlantic. We finely dropped anchor at Liverpool, England, and land sure looked good to us after being at sea so long. We marched through the streets to our train, and after riding all day and night we arrived at our camp station. After a mile and a half hike we arrived at a camp, where we remained that night. The next day we had a long hike to Camp Standon. Here the company done some heavy drilling ten hours a day until October 4th, when it was sent to France. I was sent to Camp Hospital, No. 35, Winchester, England. After remaining there a few days I was sent to France with a Medical Co., where served during the bombardment of Metz. Later I sent back to England to serve in the hospital.

Winchester is the oldest city in England, with a population of 2,400. It is sixty-three miles from London, and ten miles from Bitterene, its sea port. It is located at the foot of St. Catherine's hill, which a great hill to the south of the city. It was on this hill that Oliver Cromwell placed his cannons to bombard the city. The most beautiful edifice in the city, is Winchester Cathedral. The building was begun during the year 1093, but wasn't finished until many years later. Some of the great stones from which it is built, is the work of the Norman period. A number of the old kings and queens are buried within its walls. The city today looks as it did when the Romans left it. There seems to be no improvements whatever. The buildings are very low, but well keep and clean. This city has been the British, Celtic, Roman, Saxon, Danish and Norman capital. Six Roman roads lead out from the city, giving an outlet to all parts of the city. The cathedral was a big attraction for me and I visited it a number of times, and saw the Catholics in their great ceremonies of worship. A fine statue of King Alfred stands in the center of the principle street.

I visited London, and from Haag's mighty shows gave two exhibits here Monday to good sized audiences, especially the one in the afternoon. The crowd was orderly and quiet, and seemed to be pleased with the show. Some of the performances were as good as you will see in the larger circuses, while the most of it was old and stale.

there I went to Edenburg, Scotland. From Edenburg I went to Dublin, and on December 28 we took the train for South Hampton to sail for the dear old U. S. A., the finest place in all the wide world.

The trip across was uneventful and was made in nine days. The fifth day out we ran into a heavy storm, which lasted four days. The pitching and rolling of the ship made us all sick, and we fed the fish after each meal. One day I came up for some fresh air, and about that time two negroes came up for the same purpose. I remember one of the negroes looked very sick, and he raised his head to the skies and said, "Lord please let this ship sink" and the other one said, "Lord don't answer that negroes prayer."

I have told enough for this time, but write again, if this escapes the waste basket.

Sunday School Picnic.

The annual picnic of the Methodist Sunday School was held at Johnson's Park, on Roar river, Friday, June, 13th. The pupils assembled at the church house at 9 o'clock, and were carried from there in automobiles to the park, and an ideal place for such an occasion. At 10 o'clock, the merry, romping, children were making things lively, enjoying the various amusements, such as jumping the rope, bears scratching, monkey racing, hopracing, swinging in the big cable swings, which was equal to any Merry-Go-Round. The older ones soon caught the spirit of childhood days, and were swinging and jumping the rope as though they were only 16. At the noon hour lemonade was served to the youngsters, while the older ones spread dinner on the ground. This was an interesting and enjoyable feature of the day for every one. After it was all over and all had eat heartily, the little ones, about 85 in number, were off again for the balance of the day. They deserve much praise for their excellent behavior, and spirit of comradeship in play.

The school express its appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson for their hospitality, and also the following parties who furnished (gratis) automobile transportation for the school: D. B. Johnson, Mrs. J. M. Draper, Dr. A. D. Byrne, B. L. Quarles.

All arrangements of the picnic was made by the superintendent F. L. Tardy and the committee, O. P. Gentry, G. B. Gailbreath, and Mrs. E. W. Tardy.

Garrett Johnson, of Flynn's Lick who recently returned home from France, was in town Monday. His many friends in Gainesboro were glad to see him. He is looking fine and healthy.
